Mystery Explained. The telegraphic dispatch from Louisville, published yesterday, announcing the death of young Horace Warden, states that he was from Nashville. He was not a Nash ville man, but was here, sick, for a couple of weeks, it is supposed. He was in Nashville a day or two before his death, and said that his home was in Livingston County, Missouri; that he had accumulated about $125.00, of which amount he had been robbed in this city. He could stand with a barrel between his fore feet, without touching either side; indeed, one would suppose from looking at those legs that they were made crooked for that express purpose. He was a safe horse; for he could be left standing unhitched all day long and would remain quietly plunged in deep meditation, until his owner's return-that is unless some one would pass with a load of hay, or corn. THE JOHNSON DEMONSTRATION.

Torchlights, Turpentine, Sky Hockets, Horses, Wagons, home Voters and Considerable Tooting. The long talked of Johnson demonstra-tion, of which no little has been said for several weeks past, has come and gone. It is needless here to remark that the preparations have been going on for some time past, and the supporters of Mr. Johnson here used every effort to make it a grand affair. We suppose they are satisfied with the demonstration, and the friends of Chestham, who were also out in full force upon the sidewalks, were as enthusiastic as men could possibly be, and did not seem to be the least discouraged.

We will not attempt to underrate the pro-cession, or declare it a failure, as our co-temporary did in referring to the Cheatham demonstration two weeks sinca. The Johnson men did their level best, and they made a creditable affair of it in the way of mechanical devices and decorated vehicles. But if the wagons and horses had been put in one pile and the gentlemen wearing funeral capes and white cambric caps put in another, the horses and wagons would have out voted them. However, it was a on trial for killing his mother-in-law. Any loud procession—the horses blowed, the pretense for persecuting an Indian. "votes" with horns blowed and the wagon load of boys blowed. All the blowing, however, did not seem to disturb the equilibrium of Cheatham's staunch sup porters who were equally as numerous as the opposite party, and the way they were singing out "Oh! my Cheatham," satisfied us that they also had their blowers up. We should not here forget to mention the fact that the procession was not alone composed of Davidson county "voters." Special trains arrived on the different roads, and the ranks were swelled by hundreds from Sumner, Bedford, Rutherford and other counties. Of the number who arrived on these special trains were many Cheatham men who came down to see the show, and they were chuckling over the fact that they got here on a half-fare ticket. On one of the trains they com-Indiana. One individual of an inquisitive turn of mind, was constantly propounding conun-drums, asking, at one time, if it was not the essence of sarcasm for a transparency to be carried in a Johnson demonstration, having inscribed upon it "Behold the advance in science, in gas machines."

Hundreds of people lined the sidewalks: indeed, the crowd all the way from the markethouse,—the starting point of the procession, was so dense that it was a difficult matter for a person to pass along.

The line of march, as published, was adhered to, the procession, with its many in-teresting features, being finally brought to a halt at the courthouse, where the crowd was entertained for half an hour or so, by the repetition of Mr. Johnson's speech, wherein frequent aliusions are made to the Constitution, with which speech the readportunities to become thoroughly familiar. father is dead and that his mothing public has been furnished abundant op-

Misbehavior in Church.

We were called upon some time since to note the rudeness of a few of the rising generation in one or two of our churches. in all kindness we again protest against this desecration of God's holy temple, where "all the earth" is enjoined to "Keep silence before Him." It is the height of ill manners to move in and out, stamping like some animal, whispering, tittering, writing notes, staring at people, etc., and exceed-ingly annoying to a cultivated, refined per-son to behold such an utter disregard of the sanctity of the place and the feelings of those who attend church in a true spirit of devotion. We learn at one of our churches only a few nights since, a youth, for the amusement of himself and comrades, took a stand on the vestibule of the church, as the congregation came out, with a hat on of ridiculous proportions, and an air of clownish andacity, truly shocking at such a place. If the young persons want to frolic, let them go to a more suitable place for "there is a time and place for every thing." We hope these few plain words may prevent the authorities of the church regain his strength. may prevent the authorities of the church John B. Smith, of the Tullahoma Inde-

Pelice Pickings. Thirteen cases before Recorder Duling resterday. Emery and Eddie Vaught, two your brothers were arrested on the charge of having allowed their thieving fingers to wait upon the desires of their covetous hearts, they being accused of having been engaged in pilfering about the market house for some time. A police officer testified that he watched their proceedings yester-day, and found that they had a large market basket concealed near by, and that they were filling the same with all kinds of provisions, without going through the formal ity of paying therefor. This being a direct violation of the city ordinances in such cases made and provided, the officer grab-bled the boys, their basket and its contents, locking the little fellows up in the cala-

Music Albums at Jos. E. Loiseau & Co's Hair Store, No. 21 North Cherry st. Capt. W. E. Byers received a letter yesterday from Capt. James W. Lovell, dated Louisville, Oct. 24, apprizing him of the fact that the new steamer belonging to these gentlemen has been successfully launched, with boilers, shaft and grate-bars, etc., on board, and all the cabin frame finished. She is drawing one foot forward, 10 inches midships, and 6 inches aft, and it is thought will come out on 15 or 16 inches easy. The new craft has been named John S.
